By Telegraph to the News. NEW YORK, August 23.-The Labor Investigating Committee resumed its session. Horace. White stated he had studied the financial question, and had paid a great deal of attention to it when he was a journalist, and since he retired from journalism. He thought that the present commercial crisis is only one of a series that have occurred among nations for the past 200 years and they have been preceded by ram-pant speculation. Everybody was in debt more or less. He had been looking over the list of firms who had failed for the past 5 years. In Dun, Barlow & Company's books, he found that during that time 37,000 firms had become bankrupt, out of 680,000 firms in one book.

A (onservative Candidate Kissing a Fishwife in Public.

From the Edinburgh Scotsman. An open-air meeting, called by tuck ot drum, was held yesterday afternoon at the New Harbor, Dunbar, and was largely attended by the fishermen, their wives and children. A gaunt, middleaged female, who seemed a "character" in the place, and who was dressed in a blue print and wore a red and blue rosette in her breast, also made herself conspicuous by her antics. At 3 o'clock Sir James Grant Suttie appeared at the Harbor. Provost Brand, having made a speech introducing him, said: "And now Sir James will speak. #### The Hog Crop of Iows and Nebraska.

From the reports of the State Auditors of Iowa and Nebraska, it appears that the hog crop of these States largely exceeds that of last year, which was very heavy. But last year the hogs were in good condition as regards fatness, and were remarkably healthy This year they are thin and soft and, while they were healthy until comparatively recent period, they are now showing alarming signs of disease. Just what the cause of this sudden change is, we cannot of course say, but we think that a hint as to the reason for it may be found in the fact that last spring many farmers turned their stock upon grass, cutting them off entirely from corn. When prices advanced steadily to a point high enough to bear these pigs were, in many cases at least, put upon a diet of this highly concentrated food. Deprived in a measure of their liberty, and the loosening, healthful food, they began to show signs of disease. Thousands were hurried off to market, under the belief that it was better to get something for them rather than to let them die at home, where nothing could be made of them but a nuisance. This has filled the markets with thin hogs, having nothing good about them but their frames. Prices naturally went to a low point under the burden. In this may be seen proof of the correctness of the arguments of those who urge that farmers should keep steadily along year by year, and not suddenly desert a branch of their business which usually pays them well, because for once in a long term of years profits from that branch seem likely to be small.

The Western Fever.

Most of the 100,000 families who have moved further towards the setting sun this summer have settled in Dakota, east of Bismarck and 50 miles north and south of the Northern Pacific road. There is only one drawback to this fer tile region, which is fast filling up, and that is the musquito plague. pests annoy man and beast during the summer months, with a torment from a representative in the lower house of which ointments, netting and smudges Congress from 1832 to 1837, served on the staff of General Zachary Taylor in flood of emigration continues, into the Yellowstone valley in Montana, which Sitting Bull made unsafe for white men but two years ago. The building of Forts Keogh and Custer on the upper Yellowstone has caused the establishment of steamboat communication with the lower Missouri, and in 18 months Miles City has sprung up near them, a settlement of 600 or 1000 people in log and clapboard houses. A correspondent of the Chicago Tribune waxes enis to be in that direction.

Amusement for the Babies.

That sprightly paper, the Charlotte Observer, gets off the following good thing on one of the juveniles of that city. It has been suggested by somebody that the best way in the world to keep a baby from crying is to prop it straight up, smear its fingers with molasses and give it a feather. It will pick the feather from one hand to the other, in the vain attempt to get rid of it, until it tires itself out and drops off to sleep. A Charlotte baby, how-ever, has discovered another means of amusing itself which is equally comical, original and effective, though the other may discount it some in the way of cheapness. The Charlotte baby, brighteyed and bald headed, went through the streets yesterday afternoon. A ratterrier sat in front of its carriage, and while the nurse laughed and chatted with her beau the baby was having the best kind of a time chewing industriously on the terrier's tail, which it held fast in its fat, chubby hands. For amusing the baby this beats the feather, and for cutting its teeth it can give odds to the

Prevention and Precaution.

The citizens of Goldsboro seem to be afraid of the appearance of yellow fever there, and are taking every precaution to prevent its advent. At a caled meeting of the Commissioners it was ordered that all hogs or pigs in the city limits be removed by to-day. A notice was also sent out, two paragraphs of which we give below. It is an evidence of good judgment on the part of the City Council to thus provide agains:

danger:
"The attention of citizens is called to the necessity of keeping their premises in a cleanly condition. Yellow fever is spreading rapidly in the South-not only in places situated on water cours 's. but in inland towns, and we may be visited by that dreadful scourge, hence it behooves us to prepare in time Cleanliness is the best preventive.

"The police will make a thorough inspection of all premises and report all requiring attention, the owners or occupants of which will be required to imnediately cleanse and purify the same Disinfectants bave been ordered and on arrival will be furnished at cost on application.

A Dangerous Counterfeit.

Receiving Teller Underwood, of the redemption agency, furnishes the fo.lowing in regard to the five dollar counterfeit on the First National Bank of Tamaqua, Pennsylvania, which shows how widely it is circulated, and low easy it is, even for bank tellers, to be mistaken regarding the genuineness of a note. The first counterfeit was received at the redemption agency on the 22d of last September, since which time over eighty have been received. This counterfeit has been received from twenty-six cities and towns and twentyfour States. Its detection is a matter of certainty, as so far not one has been seen with the correct charter number. which is 1219, which is printed across the face of the note in large red figures. The counterfeiters in this case did not know the significance of the charter number, as twenty-three numbers have appeared on this note, and ten notes have been branded that have a higher number than 2,800, while the highest number on any genuine bank note is

An Outrage by a Minister. A correspondent of the Tarboro Southerner, writing from Pantego

"Not long since our community was horror struck at the cowardly deed of Rev. Edward Waters, a Free Will Baptist minister. It seems that his wife had told a slanderous falsehood on a young lady and it being traced to her she became very angry, and on Miss Fannie Woolard, her accuser, going to her gate to deliver a message entrusted to her, was coaxed in and immediately caught by her husband, while she (Mrs. Waters) whipped her in a most brutal and shameful manner, injuring her eyes so badly that it is thought the loss of one will be total. Mr. W. has offered $50 as a compromise, but she would not

Convention Notes.

Perhaps there never was a political Convention, in which, where individual preferences were so sharp and various as in that which assembled in this city on Thursday, there was more of patriotic purpose to subordinate personal predilections and other minor considerations to the grand and paramount object of party success. This fact, in itself, was the most encouraging indication of the determination to win of the Democracy, and the surest harbinger of the victory which awaits us. The spirit of that Convention needs only to be diffused among our friends throughout the District, and the hybrid complications and combinations that now confront us will be effectually trampled under foot: they will be like the mists which, for a moment, may obscure or confound the outlook, but will be soon dissipated and dispersed before the bright beams of the coming sun. The personnel of this Convention was in all respects excellent. and every county of the District was largely represented, -a gratifying evidence, not only of the high interest which the people generally are taking in public affairs, at this critical juncture in the concerns of the State and nation, but of that unity and enthusiasm among our friends which some had apprehended, and others had hoped, were want-

The speech of Henry A. London, Jr. Esq., Chairman of the District Executive Committee, in calling the Convention to order, was in fine spirit, and stamped that gentleman as "the right man in the right place." The few remarks of Mr. Bunn, of Nash, and of Mr. Green, of Orange, in assuming the temporary and permanent Chairmanships, were pertinent and in good taste. One notable and gratifying feature in the speeches of the various gentlemen, who put respective friends in nomination, or endorsed those nominatious, was the entire absence of crimination or depreciation of other aspirants,-proving two things: The splendid material which the Convention had before it, out of which to make selection, and that lofty sense of party duty and personal dignity which scorns to build up a favorite at the expense of a rival, or to underrate any good service rendered in the common cause. The generous and manly temper in which Messrs. Williams, of Granville, and Lyon, of Orange, advocated the claims of Mr. Carr; Messrs. Bunn, of Nash, and Green, of Franklin, those of Mr. Davis; Captain Denson those of Mr. Manning, and Messrs. Moore and Venable those of Judge Cox, was becoming in true Democrats and worthy of the admirable gentlemen for whom they spoke, -each one of whom, now that the magnanimous rivalry is over, will accord to the nominee a hearty, unswerving and active support.

The platform of principles laid down by the Convention is abreast of the exigencies of the times, and embodies the live and momentous issues upon which the Democracy of North Carolina and of the country propose to wage this and coming contests, until the great objects in view are accomplished. It reaffirms, first, our adherence to the timehonored principles of the party, for which we have struggled during the past ten years, under the partial triumph of which we have emerged from the gloom of Federal and military oppression and of centralized despotism, and through whose practical operation and application we have succeeded in "purifying" the various departments of government. It denounces all monopolies, high taxes, extravagance and waste in the expenditure of the people's money, and the contraction of the currency. It congratulates the country on the restoration, by the Democratic party, of silver to its legitimate uses, as against its fraudulent demonetization by the Radical party, in the interests ot capitalists and bond-holders. It demands the repeal of the Resumption Act the retirement of the National bank circulation, the substitution therefor of greenbacks in such volume as may be required by trade and business, a repeal or modification of the Revenue and Tariff laws, so that they shall not discriminate against Southern industries, the repeal of the tax on State banks, and the imposition of a tax on all incomes exceeding $2000, by which Potter Committee is a plain, solid and high salaries, as well as the hard earn- impregnable statement of the Republiings of the poor, shall be made to bear can steal. He states that "the opinion of their full proportion of the burdens of every honest man in Louisiana was that spirits, denounces corruption in office, stigmatizes in bold and ringing words the infamous Electoral Fraud, and finally congratulates the people of the Union "on the overthrow of the party of hate, with its oppression and corruption, and upon the triumph of that policy of conciliation and fraternal kindness which the Democratic party has so ong and persistently advocated."

What fitter or more emphatic exposition of our creed could any good Democrat desire than this? Where can we go to find anything better or more fully up to the wants and demands of the country? What man, disposed to think that there may be had, in the "National" or some new organization, a cure for financial or governmental evils, can fail to see that remedy in this enunciation of principles by a party, which, by the co-operation of himself and such as think with him, will have the power to apply it? We present a platform upon which all patriotic men, sincerely desirous of the peace, prosperity and purity of the country, can plant themselves without hesitancy or reservation, and which, faithfully enforced and carried out,-as it will be if the Democratic party acquires control of the government,-will bring needed blessings to the land. There are in it no mere catchvote expediencies, no idle clap-trap inventions, no wild or crazy theories, no vague promises impossible of accomplishment, no "sop to the Cerberus" of communistic desires, but simply and solely a safe chart by which to rectify prevailing abuses and consummate imperatively-needed reforms. It invites us to tread the secure "middle-paths" that lead to national prosperity.

And upon this platform we have placed a gentleman, whose legislative and public record is in entire consistency with its demands,-against whose private character the assailing dart would be as impotent as lance of straw against shield of steel, -whose patriotism, conscientiousness and ability are well known and conspicuous-who has already led us to success on two hardfought fields, and who will lead us on to victory once more. Aye, certain and assured victory, if we are as true to organization, to country and to duty, as he has been to every interest and trust committed to his charge!

. Pooling all the Issues."

custom sometimes to concentrate all Mr. Turner dubbed him, and "Josiah" bets on one given card, horse or candidate into a common "pool" in its favor or against another, so he counsels his followers to "pool" all their various or conflicting ideas-"pool all their issues" -into one common pot and go in to win, as against that common enemy which he recognizes in every man who wears a clean shirt. Taken in a proper sense, and for useful purposes, however, the advice which the man gives is not bad. When party nominations are made, according to recognized methods, all personal preferences and subordinate issues should be "pooled" in favor of the nominee. aims and principles we are in accord, lifts its banners, all trifling differences on minor points of doctrine may well be "pooled" and the "wager of batt'e"

be made on the common enemy. But let us take another instance: We were seriously informed by a prominent Republican of this city, a few days since, that it was the purpose of his party not to nominate a candidate for Congress as against Mr. Turner, the Brindle-tail chieftain. We say seriously informed, but, although he vainly essayed to look in earnest, we could discern a twinkle in his eye which rather belied the solemnity and gravity of his utterance. Still, taking it for granted that he meant what he said, and that he really thought that the incongruous elements of his party would or could be moulded into shape to suit this modern and model Refiner .- the great "Purifier."-we set about a-thinking, too. And as imagination pictured the motley character of the "pool" that would thus have to be made, we could but smile. audibly.

Ex-Judge Watts would have to "pool" his oleaginous soubriquet; Mr. Lassiter, of Granville, all hard thoughts concerning the depreciation of valuable acres, which Mr. Turner averred "would not sprout peas;" Smith, of Johnston. all resentment about charges of bribery from the same source; C. L. Harris, of Wake, a cheerful oblivion of grave alle gations in connection with the Deep New Line-West River location of the Penitentiary. The white Radical managers would throw into the 'pot" a scroll on which shall be inscribed an admission of guilty complicity in rings and robberies, together with a few special-tax "bonds" to mark awakened conscience. The colored leaders of the party would have much to cast in, but, with the placability ordinurily characteristic of their race, would do it freely, when so lovingly invited by Mr. Turner himself. Altogether, we can think of nothing which such a "pool," in variety and inconsistency of ingredients, would so much resemble, as the famous caldron of the witches in Macbeth: "Fillet of a fenny snake. In the caldron boil and bake: Eye of newt, and toe of frog, Wool of bat, and tongue of dog, Adder's fork and blind-worm's sting, Lizard's leg and owlet's wing."

"Black spirits and white, Red spirits and gray: Mingle, mingle, mingle, You that mingle may!"

Major Burke's testimony before the of the tax on tobacco and a modification of the present tax on distilled

Hayes and Packard were defeated, and Tilden and Nicholls elected." The returns furnished the ample proof, and Tilden and Nicholls elected. The returns furnished the ample proof, and Tilden and Nicholls elected.

these returns were killed or amplified as the Republican conspirators found it Even John Sherman, with the consciousness of his own part in the destruction of lawful votes, was compelled to say in his letter to Hayes (November 23, 1876) that "it seems more like the history of hell than of civilized and Christian communities " As the Louisville Courier remarks, that history of perjury and forgery John Sherman helped to write, and, as a maker of that history, he can truly say quorum magna pars fui. Civil service reform is being worked earnestly by the Republican Congressional Committee. The New York Tribune announces that this Committee has been unusually successful in assessing candidates, and that it has collected already more money for campaign purposes than were collected during the entire year of 1876. The same paper informs us that the committee has decided not to spend so much money on documents as hitherto. In 1876 it spent $100,000 for printing; this year it will expend less than a quarter of this amount on campaign documents. The natural inference is that the Republican party has wisely concluded that it can win no votes by argument, and will therefore use its money in another way and to better purpose.

"The Democrats and Whigs of the Old North State have been pulling together for several years in a double harness that has been distasteful to both. Sooner or later they must fight it out, not on an issue openly stated, but in a free fight which shall determine the personal popularity of this or that would-be leader.

We copy the foregoing from a Northrn Radical journal. We can say to it : 'Lay not that flattering unction to thy oul." The old Whigs and the old Democrats of North Carolina have one common object in view,-the anniilation of Radicalism as the worst enemy of the State and of the nation, the restoration of Constitutional liberty, and the financial and material amelioration of the people. Any attempt to resurrect buried and fogotten party prejudices is as silly as it will be fruitless.

Xanthine Co., Richmond, Va.:

I have used the Xanthine now for three years, and have induced others to try it, and have never known it to fail in accomplishing all you claim for it. It is an excellent tonic a pleasant dressing, removing and preventing dandruff and all uppleasant itching, promoting and preserving the natural growth and color of the hair, and rendering it glossy and pliable. I confidently, cheerfully and knowingly recommend it.

Narrow Escape, As Jeff. Fisher, Esv., was on his way to his plantation yesterday morning, he drove his buggy down Hargett street.
The horse was suddenly run into by a crazy steer. The shock threw down the horse and overturned the vehicle. Mr. Fisher was violently thrown out, but fortunately received no injury. The buggy was not injured, nor was the horse, and the only damage was some broken harness.

Hoggish. Dr. D. E. Salmon, United States Commissioner for investigating the diseases of hogs, is now in Salisbury for the purpose of gathering information on that important subject, which in due time will be embodied in reports and sent back to the people. Those who know of instances of hog sickness, especially of hog cholera, should report them immediately to Dr. Salmon, whose business it is to study such cases, with reference to the means likely to be successful in preventing or curing the dis-

Thief Bagged. Geo. Partin, colored, who a few nights past robbed Mr. Jack Jones, residing about 15 miles from this city, of $450 in currency, was captured here. The police have been on the lookout for this negro, of whom a description was given. Yesterday afternoon Messrs. Jewell and Hayes, residents here, saw Partin at the store of Mr. Parham, near Moore's square. The negro immediately ran, with Jewell in swift pursuit. The darkey made good running, divesting himself, in his efforts to escape, of portions of his garments. At last he was run to earth at a house on South Blount street, near Bledsoe's grove, after havng made a desperate flight of over a nile. He was brought in and at once lodged in the guard house. On his person were found $20.05. He was quite well dressed. The case will be tried to-day at 10 a. m.

The Next Fair.

The Executive Committee of the North Carolina Agricultural Society held their regular meeting at the Yarborough House, Thursday evening, the 22d instant, Col. Thomas M. Holt, President, in the Chair, and C. B. Denson, Secretary.

James S. Battle, Esq., of Nash, appeared at the invitation of the committee and accepted the position of Chief Marshal of the 18th Annual Fair. The names of the assistant marshals will be announced in a few days. Mr. Battle's eminent personal qualifications, and his large interests, both as a farmer and a manufacturer, render his ap-pointment eminently appropriate, and it will doubtless give satisfaction throughout the State.

The Secretary reported the continued reception of liberal contributions from business firms, which will be duly acknowledged previous to the Fair, as well as various other courtesies extended to the Committee and the Secretary, in the prosecution of their important

A Healthy Body and a Clear Head. Head.

If indigestion, constipation and biliousness torment the body, the head cannot be clear. These disorders react upon the brain most hurtfully, and produce a cloudness in the organ of thought not experienced by a healthy man. Happily these brain-oppress ing maladies may be entirely dispelled by that peerless alterative, Hostetter's stomach Bitters, which cheers, refreshes and invigorates the brain and nerves, while it regulates the organs of digestion, assimilation and bilious secretion. It expels the morbid humors which poison the system through the bowels and urinary passages, and exetsg a powerfully invigorating influence as well its cathartic action is never irritating, violent or painful, but even, natural and progressive. As an appetizer and sleep promoter the Bitters is unrivalled; it nitigates the infirmities of age, relieves the aliments peculiar to the gentler sex, arrests premature decay, and builds up an enfeebled physique.
